Information About Other Services for Children and Families

Child Support

Child Support (CS) may help children get financial and medical coverage from parents who do not live in the home and who are or can be court ordered to provide financial or medical coverage.

Medicaid Coverage
If a child is eligible for Medicaid and a parent does not live in the home, we may make a referral to CS. We will not make a referral for children when there is no adult requesting Medicaid coverage, unless the child is in foster care or when the only eligible adult is pregnant. If a referral is not made, but you would like assistance with CS, please contact them at 1-800-231-4255.

Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF)
If you receive TANF and one parent is not living in the home, your family will automatically be referred to CS. You must cooperate with CS in establishing paternity and in establishing and enforcing child support.

If you are interested in receiving Medicaid or TANF coverage for yourself and/or your children and you do not want assistance from CS because your cooperation might not be in the best interest of your child (example: domestic violence situation), you may claim “good cause”. If you do, a form SFN 446, will be sent to you to provide additional information so we can decide if there is “good cause”.

Are you interested in claiming “good cause” for not cooperating with CS? ☐ Yes ☐ No

Claiming “good cause” does not affect you or your child's eligibility for Medicaid and TANF.

Failure to cooperate with CS does not affect your child’s eligibility for Medicaid. However, if you choose not to cooperate with CS efforts and you have not claimed “good cause” or your claim of “good cause” has been denied, you will not be eligible for Medicaid coverage and TANF benefits. However, your children will continue to be eligible for Medicaid coverage, provided they meet all other program requirements.
